Rome, November 3.

'THE Marquis de Prie having de-
'ſir'd Audience of the Pope, was
'anſwer'd, that he ſhould be ad-
'mitted to it with the ſame Ce-
'remonial as the Envoy of Por-
'tugal and the Reſident of Savoy are allow'd. Up-
'on which he refus'd to accept it. But 'tis hop'd
'his Holyneſs will reflect how derogatory ſuch a
'Treatment would be from the Honour of the Po-
'tentate in whoſe Name the Marquis offers a Ne-
'gociation of ſo great Importance, and that in a
'few Days an Expedient will be found for admit-
'ting him to an Audience with tolerable Decorum.
'In the mean time the Miniſters and Partiſans of
'France endeavour to inſinuate, that the Emperour
'has condeſcended to ſend the Marquis de Prie hi-
'ther purely out of Fear leſt a War ſhould break
'out between him and the Pope, finding that France
'will give his Holineſs all the Aſſiſtance he can de-
'ſire; and that Liſle is ſtill to be taken. But
'at the ſame time they cannot forbear contra-
'dicting themſelves; for they alſo inſinuate, that
'the Emperour has no Intention to come to
'Terms with the Pope; and that he has contriv'd
'this Difficulty of the Ceremonial of the Marquis's
'Reception, for no other End than to provoke his
'Holyneſs to War by making him deſpair of an
'Accommodation by Treaty. It gives no little Un-
'eaſineſs to the Marquis, to obſerve on the one
'Hand the malicious Conſtructions that are made
'of a Delay which proceeds wholly from the Pope,
'and not from any Fault on his Part; and on the
'other Hand, that if he ſhould accept an Audience
'in the Manner offer'd by the Pope, 'twould be
'proſtituting the Honour of his Principal. Upon
'the whole, the ſacred College and the People of
'Rome ſhew great Impatience to ſee the Iſſue of
'the Marquis de Prie's Commiſſion. Some Days
'ago the ſaid Marquis receiv'd, by a Courier from
'Leghorne, Letters from the Engliſh Commadore
'who lately came thither with a Squadron which
'is deſign'd to convoy from Naples and Final the
'Reinforcements deſign'd for Catalonia; and 'tis
'reported as certain, that the ſaid Commadore ex-
'pects at Leghorne ſuch Directions as the Marquis
'ſhall find convenient to ſend with reſpect to the
'preſent Diſpute between this Court and that of
'Vienna. Whether this be true or not, 'tis certain
'the Continuance of that Squadron on the Coaſt of
'Italy, will have no little Influence on the Councils
'of the Pope, who will ſee plainly that he can have
'no Dependance on Succours from France, ſince
'the maritime Potentates in the Alliance are Maſters
'of the Mediterranean.

Rome, Nov. 10. 'An Expedient has been found
'for admitting the Marquis de Prie to an Audience
'of the Pope. 'Twas this, Cardinal Paulucci wrote
'a Letter to him in the Pope's Name, in which his
'Holyneſs declar'd that he would give him the
'ſame Treatment as the Count de Martinitz re-
'ceiv'd from him when he paſs'd this Way to Na-
'ples: With this the Marquis willingly acquieſc'd,
'and this Morning went to his Audience, with two
'Coaches of the Count de Caunitz and two Gen-
'tlemen; in which Equipage he will make his
'Viſits to the ſacred College, and appear publicly
'here, till the iſſue of his Negociation be ſeen.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Nov. 30.

Rome, Nov. 10. This Morning the Marquis de Prie had a private Audience of the Pope, which laſted 3 Hours. He was afterwards an Hour in Conference with the Secretary of State Cardinal Paulucci. He was admitted to his Audience of the Pope with his Sword by his Side and his Hat on, though he has not taken on him the Character of Ambaſſador from the Emperor. The Pope has order'd ſome Troops to reinforce the Garriſon of Civita Vecchia, apprehending that the Squadron of Engliſh Ships which are arriv'd at Leghorne, may attempt to Bombard that Port, or to make ſome Deſcent. His Holineſs has given Order for poſting ſtrong Guards in the Roads that lead to this City, and to ſecure them by Barriers and Palliſades: He has likewiſe given Orders for a Counterſcarp and other new Works to be made for ſtrengthning the Fortifications of the Caſtle of St. Angelo. Three Gates of the City are Walling up, viz. thoſe of Latina, Fabria, and Salara.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Dec. 7.

Rome, Nov. 17. 'Twas obſerv'd that the Marquis de Prie came from the Pope very well pleas'd with the Audience he had of him the 10th Inſtant. Among other things, they agreed on a Suſpenſion of Arms for 22 Days, in which time the Expreſs who was diſpatch'd the ſame Day to the Emperour, may bring back his Imperial Majeſty's Reſolution touching the Accomodation which is negociating; And a Courier was likewiſe immediately ſent to General Thaun, to inform him of the Suſpenſion of Arms: But before he receiv'd that Notice, he had actually taken Poſſeſſion of the City of Bologna; made the Diſtribution of Winter Quarters for his Troops; and had taken up his own Quarters in Faenza. The Marquis de Prie has ſince begun to make his Viſits to the ſacred College: He has likewiſe been twice in Conference with Cardinal Paulucci; and 'tis ſaid has propos'd theſe Terms of Accomodation. I. That the Pope disband his new Levies. II. That he conſent to the Imperial Troops taking Quarters in the Eccleſiaſtical State. III. That he give the Inveſtiture of the Kingdom of Naples to the King of Spain Charles III, and acknowledge him as ſuch. IV. And that he allow the Imperialiſts Paſſage through his Territories as often as there ſhall be Occaſion. But theſe Terms are rather gueſs'd, than known.

From the Amſt. and Leid. Gaz. &c. dated Dec. 7.

Rome, Nov. 17. The Populace beginning to murmur here, at the Pope's raiſing the Value (or rather altering the Denomination of) his Coin, in Imitation of France; two Regulations have been publiſh'd, the one to reduce all the Silver Money to its antient Rate, and confirming the Augmentation of the Value of Gold, the other forbidding the Exportation of both. On Monday laſt the Pope gave Audience to M. Carovelli of Milan, Miniſter of King Charles III, who came hither to ſecond the Marquis de Prie in his Negociations. The Cuiraſſiers and ſome other Troops march'd from hence to Day for Foligno, where Meaſures are taken for the Security of the Treaſures at Loretto. We have ſeveral Rumours concerning the Treaty of Accommodation now on Foot between this Court and that of Vienna; among other things, 'tis ſaid the Pope has conſented to the March of 2000 Imperialiſts through the Eccleſiaſtical State to the Kingdom of Naples; and that they ſhall be furniſh'd with Proviſions in their Paſſage. The Marſhal de Theſſe keeps himſelf ſo very cloſe and ſtill, that we hear as little of him as if he were at the Court of Verſailles. The Pope ſeems to be in no little Fear: Above half the Streets of this City are barricaded, and ſtrong Guards are plac'd in the reſt. Men work Night and Day on the new Fortifications of the Caſtle of St. Angelo, and ſome other Works are mark'd out near the Tyber. In the mean Time 'tis talk'd an Accommodation is as good as concluded; that the Marquis de Prie has ſent to General Thaun to ſuſpend Hoſtilities till the return of a Courier whom he has diſpatch'd to Vienna; and that in like Manner his Holineſs has ſent

Order

Order to his Galleys which are at Marſeilles taking in Men rais'd in Avignon, to ſtop there.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Nov. 30.

Venice, Nov. 16. We have Advice, that the Chevalier Pallavicini going ſome Days ago into Ferrara, demanded of the Cardinal Legate Winter Quarters in the Ferrareze and in Romagna for 18000 Imperialiſts: The Cardinal anſwer'd, that he would write about it to the Court of Rome; yet he treated the Chevalier at Dinner very ſplendidly, and afterwards caus'd him to be conducted out of the City by his Brother in his own Coach: He alſo ſent Deputies to General Thaun, with whom they agreed on a Suſpenſion of Arms for 3 Days. In the mean time the Peaſants are under a Prohibition to carry any Proviſions into Ferrara; and we hear that City is already in want of Meal, becauſe the Imperialiſts having block'd up the Place, have ſiez'd all the Mills in the Neighbourhood.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated Dec. 7.

Genoa, Nov. 22. The Pope's 4 Galleys which are returning from Marſeilles with Troops rais'd in Avignon, paſs'd by our Port the 20th Inſtant for Civita-Vecchia. 'Tis ſaid they have 1000 Men on board, and that they are to be follow'd by other new Levies, to the Number in all of 2500. Yeſterday 4 Engliſh Men of War came in here: They left Barcelona the 10th, and bring no News.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Dec. 7.

Venice, Nov. 23. The Imperialiſts are preparing a Train of Artillery at Lago Scuro, in order to bombard Ferrara, which they keep cloſely block'd up. Two Burghers and a Peaſant, who endeavour'd to conveigh Proviſions into it, were taken and immediately hang'd up: And a Party which march'd out to meet a Convoy of Corn, were met and defeated near Argentor, by a Party of Imperialiſts.
